

Clean Boats, Clean Waters (CBCW)

The Clean Boats, Clean Waters Program provides training to volunteer or paid boat landing inspectors to educate waterway users on how they can prevent the spread of Aquatic Invasive Species (AIS). Inspectors perform boat, trailer, and equipment checks, distribute informational brochures, and pass along important AIS related information. The CBCW Program is a “front line” defense against the spread of AIS, teaching citizens where invasives are most likely to hitch a ride on their equipment.

If you are interested in learning more about the CBCW program, would like to start a CBCW program on your lake, or attend a training session, contact the University of Wisconsin-Extension at www.dnr.wi.gov/?lakes/cbcw.
